

Leicester and Leicestershire
Travel Trade
Guide 2022

Uncover the story of a city and county with over 2,000 years of history. Visitors are guaranteed a traditional 'taste' of England and a landscape of woodland and waterways perfect for gentle adventures.

Leicestershire

Uncover the story

Leicester and Leicestershire tell some of England's most unique and unusual stories. The area is famous for its connection with one of the bloodiest battles in English history and the gravesite where, over 500 years later, King Richard III's remains were discovered beneath a city car park. Travel pioneer Thomas Cook ran his first railway excursion here in 1841 and visitors can follow the route by steam train today, dining in style on the Great Central Railway. For a truly unique experience take a tour of the last working bell foundry in Britain where traditional craft skills have been employed since 1859 or visit the official home of Triumph Motorcycles for a fully guided factory tour. Take afternoon tea in the 17th century home of Gunpowder plotter Sir Everard Digby or tour the opulent interiors of the castle that featured in Netflix's The Crown.

Taste the place

Leicestershire offers an authentic taste of England with the ancient market town of Melton Mowbray claiming the title of Rural Capital of Food through its association with the pork pie and Stilton cheese. Experience the best of the region's food and drink, and discover a little of its fascinating history, through tours and activities like traditional pork pie making. We invite you to drink our ale where it is brewed, make your own gins and sample our food where it is made in the traditional way.

Active Escapes and Gentle Adventures

With over 70 miles of waterways and a vast National Forest to explore there are plenty of opportunities to have gentle adventures and enjoy the fresh air. Take a kayak to the pub, hire a luxury electric bike to cycle woodland trails, have a go at archery or bushcraft, learn woodturning outdoors with tea brewing on an open fire or see the countryside from a new perspective on a traditional narrow boat or chauffeur-driven Mustang Boom Trike. Experience the exhilaration of a tank driving or hovercrafting adventure then unwind with a wellbeing and nature experience in the heart of the forest.

6. Tour of the Loughborough Bellfoundry and Museum

Loughborough Bellfoundry, home to the historic John Taylor & Co., was constructed in 1859 as a state-of-the-art Victorian bellfoundry. Following the closure of the Whitechapel Bellfoundry in June 2017, it is now the last major bellfoundry in Britain.

Parts of the Grade II* listed site have evolved over time, but the basic layout and manufacturing processes established in the middle of the 19th century remain the same. When combined with a complete company archive still in situ, along with the UK's most comprehensive collection of bell and ringing-related artefacts, the heritage of the site is internationally significant and entirely unique. Tours are an "up close and personal" affair, bringing visitors face-to-face with master craftsmen and women, who continue to use many of the same skills employed since the middle of the 19th century, from the casting and tuning of our world-famous church bells, to carpentry and the production of hand bells.

Highlights

- Unprecedented 'behind the scenes' access to one of the oldest operational factories in the world.
- Group tours for up to 35 visitors, including information about some of the most significant bells in our history.
- Access to the bellfoundry museum, with the opportunity to chime various historic bells and to have a go at chiming handbells.

8. The 1620s House and Garden at Donington le Heath

The 1620s House & Garden is a rare example of a family home built in the 13th century and modernised in 1618. It is set in beautiful 17th century style gardens with labelled plants and flowers, an orchard, herb gardens and a maze. Visitors have a rare opportunity to step back in time and immerse themselves in the early 17th century and explore the fully furnished rooms; handle the objects and talk to our team of volunteers to discover what life was like in the 1620s. Understand the daily goings on in the kitchen and scullery, the secret of religion and who might have come to visit! One of the prize exhibits at the house is the four-poster bed, said to be the bed in which Richard III slept at the White Boar Inn, Leicester, on his way to the Battle of Bosworth Field in 1485.

Museums in Leicester

leicestermuseums.org

All free entry except on event days.

Leicester Guildhall

One of the best-preserved timber framed halls in the country, Leicester Guildhall is now a medieval museum and performance venue. Its Great Hall, built around 1390, has been used as a performance space (where it is said Shakespeare may have acted) and town hall as well as a home to one of the oldest public libraries. It stands next to Leicester Cathedral.

Newarke Houses

Two 16th century houses, surrounded by public gardens, now form the Newarke Houses social history and regimental museum. As well as the collections of the Leicestershire Regiment, the museum displays a collection of the things that make up people's everyday lives. Of interest is a recreated World War I trench and 1950s street scene animated by the stories of people who call Leicester their home.

Abbey Pumping Station

Leicester's industrial museum, just outside the city centre, boasts four magnificent beam engines, all restored to working order. As well as a 150-foot chimney, these industrial buildings house displays on the history of science, industry, transport, health and hygiene. The beam engines are in full-steaming action on special event days.

Leicester Museum & Art Gallery

Opened in 1849, this is one of the earliest museums in the country. Galleries include Ancient Egypt, Dinosaurs, Wild Space, the Victorian Art Gallery, Arts & Crafts Gallery, Picasso Ceramics, The Attenborough Collection and the internationally renowned German Expressionism collection. There is a regular programme of temporary exhibitions, café and gift shop.
